

King Airs Views On Post Office Wage Increases

Appearing in behalf of Post Office employees, Congressman Cecil R. King urged a House committee currently studying various pending Federal pay increase bills to favorably consider a 25-percent increase for postal workers.

"There are numerous hardship cases among our postal employees due to the present inadequate wage scale and many such employees have been forced to seek outside employment in order to provide their families with the bare necessities of life," King testified.

He cited figures showing that the Post Office Department is continuously losing employees to private industry, which he said, "they secure wages more in line with the increased cost of living."

"The process of constantly training new employees," King said, "does not increase the efficiency of the postal service."

He also said he hoped the committee would favorably consider pay raise proposals for other Federal employees.

"Our Government services generally have suffered greatly," King stated, "due to the inadequacy and unattractiveness of Federal pay scales."

3 GP Employees To Retire Today

Three Torrance refinery employees of the General Petroleum Corporation will retire today after accumulating nearly 80 years of oil company service.

They are: Thomas J. McDermott, shift foreman at the refinery since 1945, who has been in refinery operations at both Vernon and Torrance since 1917.

Alvin O. Albert, in refinery work since 1926, has been employed as a treater at the Torrance refinery since 1949.

Ora L. Bingham, whose service dates back to 1941, has been a truck driver for the engineering-construction department since 1943.

All three men retire under General Petroleum Annuity Plan which dates back to 1912.

Public Safety Course Slated

Marshall Calloway, formerly consultant for Driver Education for Los Angeles City Schools, will conduct a course in "The Teaching of Public Safety and Accident Prevention for University Extension which opens Thursday afternoon, April 8 at 4 o'clock in Room 116 at Torrance High School, 2220 Carson St.

He will stress methods of organizing safety work in elementary and junior high schools and curriculum phases related to safety and accident prevention. This course is intended as a partial fulfillment of credential requirement, and students may earn two units of credit.
